FLOOD RELIEF: REBUILDING SCHOOL IN 72 HOURS

When the deadly monsoon wreaked havoc in Kerala, it didn't spare even the schools where little kids come to take their first steps in formal education. The Government Lower Primary (GLP) School at Kurichyarmala in Vythiri in Wayanad district was one such school to suffer heavily during the floods. But the school rose from the calamity like a phoenix, setting a new example of community feeling and social responsibility. Students and alumni from SIAS Media School take part in the historic process. Wayanad had to face the wrath of nature even before the rest of Kerala began to face them.

Global Handwash day

The final year UG microbiology students of Dept of Microbiology SIAS has released an awareness video of importance of handwashing on International handwash day October 15. The video was appreciated widely as an extra ordinary informative and need of the hour as we are in the midst of COVID 19 pandemic. The students themselves have prepared the script with relevant reference sources and performed the steps of hand washing using Soap. Total 5 students were participated in the video production and performance and other 26 students in three groups collected the material, prepared the script, executed and distributed pamphlets to spread awareness within the institute and surrounding village. This was a wonderful experience for the students and they could inculcate the importance of such awareness programs to the public as well.
